

Urban Extension Initiative Leadership Fellows

Program Highlights

- Now recruiting for Cohort #4, UEI Leadership Fellows is now open to Extension Professional nationwide, working in all program areas
- UEI is a one-year commitment (this could be extended based on the project), allowing sufficient time to plan, organize, implement, and evaluate your ideas.
- You can expect to learn more about:
  - Skills and strategies for practical academic research
  - Become familiar with core tools and resources for research productivity
  - Build community with other Urban Extension Professionals
- Monthly Zoom networking with Extension Agents and Faculty on a variety of topics applicable to those working in larger communities.
- Individual work related project, which can lead to journal publication.
- Coaches will be available every step of the way and will assist with the analysis of data and guidance with submitting research for publication (if you so chose).
- Out of State Tuition - $1000

Mission: Hosted by University of Kentucky faculty, the mission of UEI to support the professional and personal development of Extension professionals at the county and state levels by developing urban education and research opportunities that advance the knowledge base of urban Extension & leadership in their organization and community.
